Dear Mr. Salisbury,

As I wrote, I've drafted a piece on the "new evidence" added to the archive and the suppression it cloaks.

When I mentioned to Fred Graham what I have and asked to whom on the New York Times Magazine to send it he suggested Dan Schwarz. I'm sending it to you so you know know the content. Would you please forward it after you read it?

If there is a negative decision I'd appreciate knowing immediately, for I'll then try and place it elsewhere while it is still current news. I've become so accustomed to the direction of adjectives at me perhaps I've used too many. I have no objection to editing, which in any event is needed. I rushed with it to do another, which now awaits retyping. It is on the pictures and Krays and is a few pages longer.

I have also sent a copy to my agent in England, who may also try and place it elsewhere in Europe, where he has sold book, serialization and condensation rights in Italy, Spain and Germany.

If you or anyone else at the Times has any questions, please let me know.

Sincerely,

Harold Weisberg
